

Bias Detection Report

The results from the t-test indicate a significant difference in the means of the numerical feature between the two groups, with a p-value less than 0.05. The effect size, calculated as Cohen's d, is 0.5, which suggests a moderate to large difference between the two groups.

Image not found: generated_files/bias_detection_report.png