

Bias Detection Report

This is a report introduction.

The bias detection methods used include K-Means clustering, max/min ratio, and Shannon entropy.

The results show that there are various levels of bias in different features, ranging from No Bias to Significant Bias. The overall bias level is classified as Level 3, indicating a moderate level of bias.