Bias Detection Report

The native country and income show a moderate correlation, with a Cramér's V value of 0.09870485674433296. The bar chart also indicates that some native countries have a higher proportion of individuals with income above 50K, while others have a lower proportion.